NEWLANDS HEARD FROM.

The Washington correspondent of the S. F. Chronicle, says:

In the House Nevada of Nevada made a remarkably strong speech for silver. It was so strong, in fact, that avowed gold bugs like Boutelle of Maine, Powers of Vermont and others said to the Chronicle correspondent that they had learned something, that the industrial side of the case had never before been presented to them, and that some of their fondest beliefs had been shaken. They were not slow to express the same sentiments to Mr. Newlands himself, and they even confessed that they feared it had been effective in changing votes.

This is true. It has changed the opinion of several men. The speech should have been made earlier. It was a plain statement of facts, and it hit so hard that at the first opportunity the speaker was shut off. The gold men did not want to hear more.

NEXT:

The Chicago Inter-Ocean has come out unequivocally for bimetalism. The "silver lining to the cloud" is growing wider and brighter as such great journals echo the command: "Let there be light."

This cloud, which has hung over our nation since 1873, is but the sulphurous smoke of the hell on earth kindled 20 years ago by Ernest Seyd and John Sherman—they who summoned up the Demonization of silver.

It was Rather Cheeky.

The Democratic senators will not allow themselves to be dictated to by the Republicans. An example of this was had in the Senate last week when Senator Voorhees said he would call the committee on finance together on Thursday. A Republican Senator wished to know why not Wednesday, to which the Senator made the following pertinent reply:

"I shall issue the call tomorrow for the committee to meet Thursday to take up the great question, as it must be taken up, far away from the speeches of cheap demagogues such as we have been listening to. The idea of dealing with the question in the hop, skip and jump style suggested by the Senator from Maine is amazing in the Senate of the United States; particularly in the case of the Senator who is now forward to undo what he has helped to do. The Senator from Maine forgets that every curse of the Sherman Act comes home to roost on that side of the chamber, not on this. Not a single vote on our side was given for that miserable act. The idea of the Senator from Maine appealing to me to make haste to undo the infamy and fraud which he himself voted to fasten on this country is about the most refreshing thing that I have witnessed in 30 years of public life.

A Long Nap.

Indianapolis, August 23.—Bridget Pendergast, after having been asleep at the Central Hospital for the Insane for two years, is awake. She is dying. Her case is so remarkable that it has been the subject of much investigation and examination by physicians. She was admitted to the Central Hospital in September, 1890. In February, 1891, she fell into a cataleptic slumber that lasted uninterruptedly until last Thursday.

When admitted she was 26 years old. She was first treated at St. Vincent's Hospital where she was listless and would scarcely talk with any one. After her removal to the Insane Hospital she took food for a short time. She became more cheerful and expressed a desire to go to her home and relatives in Ireland. After she passed into the stupor she had to be fed artificially. Dr. Frank Ray has given her from sixty to ninety ounces of milk daily. The attitude she maintained was that of a quiet, peaceful sleeper, with eyes closed and upturned, pupils contracted and not responsive to light. The doctor thinks she may live a few days longer.

We have reduced the prices of everything we carry in stock; Groceries, Provisions, Liquors, Hardware, Tinware, Crockery, Paints, Oils, Wall Paper, etc., can be purchased at this Emporium at a less percentage of profit than elsewhere. No necessity for sending your money to California, thinking you can save something for we will be more than pleased to duplicate your bill.
